APPEALS OF PASTOR FOR STARVING WILL BRING BIG RESULTS

Ministers of the City and County Will Present Cause to Churches Sunday and Preenet Workers Will Get Busy on Drive.

The appeals of Pastor J. J. Dickey from his bed at Hayswood Hospital Friday afternoon in behalf of the starving children of the Christian Near East are expected to bring great results in the way of liberal contributions from the people of Maysville and Mason county for this most worthy cause.

All of the pastors of Maysville and Mason county in answer to the appeal of Pastor Dickey, will announce the campaign and make a special plea to their congregations on Sunday morning. The various laymen in the county organization are expected to get very busy during the coming week to organize their districts and to make appeals to everyone in the whole of the county.

Pastor Dickey has suggested that envelopes be given to all of the school children in Maysville and Mason county who will be asked to contribute some of their candy money to the poor starving children of the early Christian lands. Pastor Dickey expects to employ a secretary-stenographer at once and will actively manage the campaign from the hospital despite the fact that because of broken bones he is unable to move in his bed.

Contributions will be received at all newspaper offices and at most any local business house and turned over to the proper authorities. Mason county's apportionment in this drive is but $2500 which should be contributed in a very short time.

WEALTHY OHIO MAN IS KILLED BY TRAIN

Aged and Wealthy Citizen of Ohio Is Killed When Struck By Train at Leesburg.

Fletcher VanPelt, one of the most prominent citizens of Leesburg, Ohio, was struck and instantly killed by a fast freight train Sunday afternoon at one o'clock, says the Hillsboro News-Herald.

Mr. VanPelt was 76 years of age and a veteran of the Civil War. As was his custom Sunday after dinner he had gone for a walk. He was returning to town and was about 250 yards west of the depot when struck by the train. He was walking on the tracks, which he did frequently. The engineer saw him and blew his whistle several times. When first seen by the engineer he was walking in the middle of the track. When the whistle was blown he walked to the edge of track and had stepped over the rail and was walking on the end of the ties. He was struck by the cow catcher of the engine and thrown thirty feet, rolling down a steep bank.

Mr. VanPelt was very deaf and it is thought that he did not hear the whistle of the engine and had no idea the train was approaching.

He was one of the wealthy men of Leesburg, retired farmer, and was highly esteemed by every one for his high character and fine principles. Mr. VanPelt's wife died about three months ago.

SON OF MAYSVILLIAN BURIED WITH HONORS AT ARLINGTON

Walter Austin, One of the First to Fall in World War, Is Buried By Marines in Arlington cemetery on Armistice Day.

Mr. Charles P. Austin, of Detroit, spent today in Maysville with relatives, en route to his home after having attended the burial of his son's body in Arlington cemetery at Washington on Armistice Day.

Walter Austin was one of the very first Americans to fall in the great world conflict. He was a member of the company of Marines who took part in the first fighting of the Americans. He was wounded on June 20th and died in the hospital on July 15th. His body together with the bodies of seven sailors was brought to America by the War Department and the burial of these seven bodies in beautiful Arlington, the National cemetery at Washington, on Armistice Day was made an event.

Walter, having been a Marine, was buried by that branch of the service. Many companies of Marines were in attendance with a great Marine band and the Chaplain of his regiment officiated at the grave after which a final salute was fired by sixty guns over the grave.

The large American flag which was wrapped about the casket when it left France, was presented to his father by the officials and of it he is very proud. Mr. Austin had three sons in the great conflict, the other two having returned home safely.

COAL TO COME DOWN OHIO ON ARTIFICIAL WAVE CREST.

Plans for another "coal wave" in the Ohio River were yesterday arranged by the United States Engineers. The wave will be started at Point Pleasant Sunday morning at 6 o'clock and the calculation is its front will reach Portsmouth some time on Monday and that it will be reaching Cincinnati on Tuesday.

It is probable this will be the last of the artificial waves for the present season. Coal shippers all have been notified and have been hustling in the effort to bring on as much coal as possible.

There will be several million bushels of the coal for consumers, large and small, in this city.

WANT SIDEWALK GRADE CHANGED ON SECOND.

The Star Produce Company which is erecting a new building at Second and Government street has asked permission to change the sidewalk grade in front of their building. The change would necessitate three steps off Second onto Government street and many of the City Councilmen oppose the steps. A meeting of members of Council as a committee of the whole was held at the building this morning but no agreement was reached. It is more than likely that a special meeting of Council will be called to go into the matter.

ALL NEIGHBOR PAPERS BOOST TOBACCO FAIR.

All of the neighbor newspapers are giving the Maysville Corn and Tobacco Fair strong boosting in their issues of this week which means that the fair is being very extensively advertised throughout the entire section. It is expected that this extensive advertising and liberal boosting will bring large crowds from all of the adjoining counties.

MR. TODD'S FUNERAL IS HELD THIS AFTERNOON.

The funeral of Amos Todd, whose body arrived here yesterday from Marion, Ind., was held this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock from the residence of Mrs. Ascraft in Front street and burial was made in the Maysville cemetery.

COLD WEATHER GOOD ON CONTAGIOUS DISEASE.

The local health authorities and physicians are very much pleased with the change in the weather at this time believing that the severe cold will have much to do with checking the spread of contagious diseases among the children in Maysville and Mason county.

PROSECUTION RESTS IN PARSONS' CASE.

The prosecution rested yesterday in the examination of Dr. Winnes and James Robinson for the murder of Miss Laura Parsons, Pine Mountain Settlement School teacher. The defense today began its case which will probably be closed by Monday or Tuesday. The prosecution believes they have strong enough circumstantial evidence a warrant holding both Dr. Winnes and the negro for further investigation in the higher court.

KENTUCKY BAD MAN HELD TO GRAND JURY

Ward, Wanted Some Noise and Started Firing, Killing Ironton, Ohio, Man.

The preliminary hearing in the case of Mike Ward, charged with the murder of Thomas Mahoney of Ironton, O., drew a large crowd yesterday morning in Judge John B. Read's court, at Covington. Ward was represented by Attorney John B. O'Neal. Judge Read held the prisoner to the next grand jury and fixed his bond at $15,000. When the question of the amount of the bond was argued by County Attorney Edward J. Tracey and Attorney O'Neal, Judge Read said he would admit Ward to bond because the testimony indicated that the degree of the crime perhaps would be fixed by the jury at manslaughter.

Frank Hengehold, bartender in Joe Jansen's saloon, Pike and Russell streets, where the shooting took place on last October 27, gave a description of the shooting which resulted in the death of Mahoney. He said that Ward remarked, "Let's have some noise," pulled his gun and began shooting promiscuously, causing panic in the saloon to beat a hasty retreat. Mahoney ran toward a rear door and was shot before he could reach the exit. Hengehold said that Ward acted like a man on the verge of delirium tremens.

Joseph Thornton, who was in the saloon at the time of the shooting, testified that he ran for a rear door, closely followed by Mahoney. Several other witnesses testified as to the action of Ward just previous to the shooting.

DAVIS CHARGED WITH MURDER.

"Dick" Davis, who was arrested and charged with having murdered Horace DeBrue of 218 Pike street in a saloon at Pearl and Ludlow streets on October 23, was bound over to the grand jury by Judge Fox at Cincinnati yesterday morning without bond. Davis is charged with murder. According to the police, he confessed that he killed DeBrue, but testimony of witnesses at the inquest of the coroner, however, was to the effect that Davis did not do the shooting.

MANY NOW PAYING COUNTY TAXES.

The sheriff's office is now seeing its annual rush to pay county taxes. All taxes must be paid before the last day of this month or penalties will be attached and the county people are paying up promptly. Many of the city people put off paying their county taxes until the last day and then are compelled to stand in line for hours.

NIMRODS GET READY FOR NEXT MONDAY.

There was a great rush of hunters at the County Clerk's office today for hunters' licenses. Up until noon 65 licenses had been issued and indications were that more than 100 would be issued before the close of the day. The game season opens on Monday, November 15th and hundreds will take to the fields on that day.

LOCAL FOOTBALL ENTHUSIASTS TO SEE BIG GAME.

Quite a number of Maysville football fans went to Lexington this morning to witness the game between Kentucky University and the wonderful Center eleven.

Mrs. Watt Lawson, Miss Mary Louis Lawson, Mrs. Laura Todd and son, Amos, and Mrs. Marvin Lee, all relatives of Rev. J. J. Dickey, came from their homes at Flemingsburg today to visit their relative who is reported today as doing as well as possible.

AGED COLORED WOMAN DIES OF BURNS RECEIVED

While Cooking Supper Friday Dress of Aged Woman Takes Fire and She Is Burned To a Crisp Before Neighbor Flashed Her.

"Aunt" Angie Brown, aged colored woman, died of burns received late Friday at her home on the Fleming pike a short distance from the city. "Aunt" Angie was one of the oldest colored women in the county and was well and favorably known by many.

It is supposed that the old lady's clothing caught fire from a stove upon which she was cooking supper. Martha Wilson, who lives in another part of the same house, heard the cries of "Aunt" Angie and rushed into her part of the building. She found the old woman lying on a bed with most of her clothing burned from her body and parts of her body in a crisp. Clothing was wrapped about her body to extinguish the flames but it was too late, her body had seen so severely burned and she had probably inhaled the flames so that death soon relieved her of her intense suffering.

Coroner Thomas F. Higgins was immediately called and his investigation disclosed the facts as herein related.

The age of the colored woman is not known but she was a slave and is said to be nearly a century old.

THRELKELD JURY IS UNABLE TO AGREE

After Six Hours of Deliberation Jury Trying Nicholasville Teacher Falls To Reach Agreement.

Nicholasville, Ky., No. 12.—The jury in the case of the Commonwealth vs. Prof. T. B. Threlkeld, charged with the murder of Arthur Dennon, October 7, after deliberating for almost six hours reported that it was unable to agree at 5 o'clock this afternoon and was dismissed. The case will be tried again at the March term of court here. Prof. Threlkeld was released on $5,000 bond.

The case was submitted to the jury at 11:30 a. m. after arguments by Maury Kemper, of Lexington, for the defense, and Ben A. Crutcher for the prosecution. At noon the jury members were taken to dinner, after which they resumed deliberations.

The case has been one of the most sensational in central Kentucky in recent years on account of the prominence of Professor Threlkeld, who is head of the Threlkeld Select School for Boys, which he established. He is 73 years old.

Professor Threlkeld's plea was self defense. He maintained he fired only when Arthur Dennon advanced toward him with the intention of ejecting him from his grocery store. The testimony of Logan Threlkeld, his son, was in substantial agreement.

SALE RESTRICTIONS ONLY FOR BEER MAKING.

Washington, Nov. 13.—Prohibition enforcement officials throughout the country were under instructions today to prosecute persons selling hops and malt in connection with other ingredients for home brewing of beer.

They also had instructions not to interfere with lawful sale of hops and malt, according to a statement by William W. Williams, internal revenue commissioner.

What the Internal Revenue Bureau is trying to do is to stop the practice for making a certain amount of beer.

BODIES FOUND IN DEEP WELL.

Marletta, O., Nov. 13. — Temporary insanity, it was believed today impelled Mrs. Mollie Woolfert, 38, to kill her daughters, Alice, 7 and Esther, 4, and then commit suicide on a farm near here.

The three bodies were found in a cistern by the woman's husband and son.

Police said indications were the woman cut the children's throats, threw the bodies into the cistern, then cut her own throat and plunged in after the bodies.

BALLARD WANTS EXTRA SESSION OF STATE ASSEMBLY

Lieutenant Governor Would Have Special Session of Assembly to Adopt New Tax Laws Taxing Coal and Oil.

In a statement at Louisville last night Lieutenant Governor S. Thurston Ballard said he would ask Governor Morrow to call an extra session of the Kentucky Legislature for this winter.

The first purpose of a special session, Mr. Ballard explained, would be to arrange for funds for building roads. He would obtain these funds through taxing coal and oil, largely.

In the opinion of the Lieutenant Governor, coal should bear a tax of 10 cents a ton. This, he said yesterday, would yield to the state about $3,000,000 annually.

Mr. Ballard had not made up his mind definitely on the amount oil should be taxed, but said "it should be a plenty," especially in view of the high prices oil is now bringing.

Failure of the whisky tax of 50 cents a gallon, levied by the last Legislature, to hold, made it imperative to make other arrangements for raising funds for road building, Mr. Ballard explained. It was estimated that the whisky tax would yield $15,000,000 for roads, but the law imposing it was held unconstitutional by the Kentucky Court of Appeals.

"We Republicans can't afford to let these four years of Republican control in the state drift by without accomplishing something big for Kentucky," Mr. Ballard said, "and one of the biggest things we can do is put into operation the machinery for good roads. I intend to have a conference with the Governor at the earliest possible moment and suggest that he call a special session of the Legislature for this winter."

Governor Morrow, when called by telephone at the mansion in Frankfort last night, said he did not care to discuss the matter of an extra session.

ROOSEVELT'S CLEAN CAMPAIGN.

The Cox-Roosevelt idea of a clean campaign is set forth by the Republican Publicity Association through its President, Hon. Jonathan Bourne, Jr., as follows:

"On election eve F. D. Roosevelt, Democratic candidate for vice-president, laid the flattering unction unto his party's soul that it had conducted a clean campaign. Ordinarily it is not important that the victor should notice the pre-election statements of the vanquished, but young Mr. Roosevelt's statement is one which demands refutation.

"It is doubtful if a dirtier, yellower campaign was ever conducted in the history of American politics than that which was sponsored in one way or another by the Democratic party from the day of Mr. Cox's acceptance speech up to the utter rout of hypocrisy on November 2nd.

"There seemed to be no limit in lexicon or legerdemain which was not sought by the champions of Messrs. Cox and F. D. Roosevelt in the campaign recently closed. Slander and vilification were exploited to their uttermost depths by these men. They called Warren Harding a brewer, a creature of rapacious profiteers, a weakling and a snob. They repeatedly impugned his honesty. They at length descended to the lowest level of personal abuse by circulating lying leaflets concerning his blood and his parentage. They called the Senate leader of the Republicans a base conspirator and the most despised man in America. They accused the Republican party with attempting to purchase the election, an insult alike to the Republicans and the voters. They charged that party with conniving with Kaiser Wilhelm to keep the United States out of the league of nations; with a plot to debauch the U. S. Supreme Court in that Harding, if elected, would appoint judges to that august body whose decisions would be hawked in the market place; with appealing to the hyphenated vote and ignoring the American vote; with planning the rule of the bayonet and the reign of the mailed fist. In their desperation the Democrats dragged the vestments of religion from their channels and waved them in the faces of the people; they invaded the churches with their un-American crusade, and they capitalized the illness of their leader in an appeal to the sob vote; and they dragged the State Department to their purposes. In the choice language of F. D. Roosevelt, opponents of the Versailles Treaty were 'league liars,' as they were 'contemptible quitters' in the intemperate language of Mr. Wilson, whose uncontrollable fits of rage worked his destruction. If this was F. D. Roosevelt's idea of a 'clean campaign,' what horrible metamorphosis had party association worked in him? What filth could have party have possibly handled to earn his disapproval?

"And the aftermath blasts from the Democratic party are quite as fetid. The editorial appearing in the New York World on the morning following election displayed the spirit of Lucifer cast out of Heaven. The truest sport in the Democratic ranks, if we are to judge from after-election language, was James W. Gerard, of the Democratic National Committee, whose tribute to Harding was like a flower blooming in a fen.

"The campaign waged by the Democratic party was a disgrace to American politics. It showed, as nothing else could, the composite mentality of the proponents of internationalism, parlor-bolshevism, and that sickening sycophancy which grows out of worship of a king. Its sharpest condemnation was to be found in the poise and dignity maintained by Harding and Coolidge, a condemnation which the people overwhelmingly indorsed. Never has hypocrisy received such a rebuke. The Democratic party has four years in which to purge itself, and it is to be hoped its putrescence has not reached the tertiary stage. Meanwhile it is in order to swap the Democratic donkey for a pole-cat."

HINDU BARBER A MAN OF PARTS.

Now that the price for haircutting has risen, which means that possibly the barber will not be so busy in the future, perhaps we shall find him eventually emulating the Hindu haircutter.

The latter is an individual of immense importance in India, and as his duties are many, he is in constant demand. At a birth the Hindu barber is the man employed to carry the yentful news to the various family relatives, while at a funeral he shaves the heads of the living—and the dead.

The Hindu haircutter has no shop, and, unlike our barbers, he displays no poles, signs or symbols. He can be seen strolling along near the bazaars, with a small bundle under his arm or carrying a little bag. At all religious rites he is to be observed; he bores the girls' ears and noses for the various rings which are worn; will undertake almost any surgical operation.

Besides birth and deaths, he attends marriages. At a wedding, we are told, this busy barber is "best man."

The touch of this handy man, by the way, is exceptionally light, and it is said that he can shave his customers while they sleep.—Answers, London.

Edison Was Right Again

The prices of Edison Phonographs have increased less than 15% since 1914, and a substantial part of this increase is the 5% tax, which the Edison Laboratories pay to the Government.

The Edison Phonograph of today is a better phonograph and a better value than the Edison Phonograph of 1914. On the other hand, the dollar of today is worth, in purchasing power, only a little more than half as much as the dollar of 1914. Therefore, if you buy an Edison Phonograph at this time, you are virtually buying a before-the-war value, with an after-the-war dollar.

Why was it that Edison did not increase his price and how did he avoid the necessity of doing so? Any commercial agency and practically any investment banker can ascertain for you that the Edison Phonograph Laboratories were doing business, in 1914, on a narrower margin of profit than was true of any of the other established phonograph, or talking machine, manufacturers. Now, then, did Edison manage to avoid an increase in his selling prices?

The story is dramatically interesting. The following is only the essence of it:

When the United States of America entered the Great War, Mr. Edison dropped all his work at the Edison Laboratories and enlisted in the army of American men of science, who pitted themselves so successfully against the world-famed German scientists. Cardinal Mercier, on his recent visit to America, credited Mr. Edison with a large share in winning the war for the Allies. The New York American of September 5th describes, at length, some of the inventions which Mr. Edison developed and placed at the disposal of the Government. In this article, the New York American states that Mr. Edison appears to have been the moving spirit of the Naval Consulting Board of the United States.

When Mr. Edison gave up his own business for the business of the Nation, a very critical situation existed in his Manufacturing Laboratories, due to their inability to obtain various materials, and the necessity of finding satisfactory substitutes for such materials. If there was ever a time in Mr. Edison's career, when his personal attention to his business was required, it was when he went to war. Thomas A. Edison had reason to believe that he was risking enormous losses, by deserting his business, at the particular time in question, but he did not hesitate, and his example had a remarkable influence on the men and women, who remained behind. From the humblest workman to the highest paid executive in the Edison organization, everyone seemed determined "to make good, while the Old Man was away." Vacations were passed up and doctors' orders were ignored by zealous employees, and, as a result, the Edison Manufacturing Laboratories were one of the few manufacturing concerns in the United States, where there was no loss of efficiency, during the war, and where there was, in fact, an increase in efficiency.

During the war, Mr. Edison spent most of his time on the sea coast or at sea. On those rare occasions, when he visited the Edison Laboratories, it was difficult to gain his attention, for more than a few minutes, with reference to business matters. He did, however, state that the Edison Phonograph was his pet invention and he hoped that his business associates would be able, in some way or other, to avoid any increase in price, and that, if there must be an increase, he wanted such increase to be just as small as it could possibly be made. Mr. Edison said: "I am willing to stand the gaff. Music is an important thing. Let us make it as easy as possible for people to have music in their homes in these nerve-racking days."

What was the result? The wonderful realism of the New Edison, "The Phonograph with a Soul," made it desired above all other phonographs, and its sale was stimulated by the fact that the increase in price was negligible. The demand soon far outstripped the supply. Overhead and sales expense were reduced to the minimum and, thanks to Mr. Edison's willingness to absorb a large share of the increased cost of manufacture, it was possible for the Edison Laboratories, by accepting a merely nominal profit, to avoid any substantial increase in the selling price of the Edison Phonograph.

It will be many years before the general level of commodity prices is as low as the present price of the Edison Phonograph. Leading bankers have expressed themselves as willing to lend money on Edison Phonographs, because they know the selling prices of Edison Phonographs are not going to be reduced.

Let us reiterate that when you buy an Edison Phonograph today you buy a before-the-war value with an after-the-war dollar. If you have any fear that there may be a reduction in the prices of Edison Phonographs, we are prepared to give you full assurance on that point.

PROOF OF LOVE.

The path of love was not lined with rose leaves for Reginald, and he was getting tired of it.

He felt it was time to give his imitation of the work that turned when the maiden asked for the thousandth time: "Are you sure you love me, dear?" Reginald drew a deep breath.

"Do I—Look here, my darling," he gasped. "I've missed my last train home for the third time this week; you've been sitting on my knees for three hours 'till I've got a cramp; your little brother has torn the brim off my straw hat; your father made me smoke one of his cheap cigars this evening; I've spent my last dollar on those chocolates you've just eaten, and I've never groused once. Do you think I hate you?" — Pittsburgh Chronicle-Telegraph.

ENTHUSIASM IS RED-BLOODED

Try Pepto-Mangan If You Feel Weak
And Look Pale.

Sometimes you are almost down and out. You know you are not really sick, but you have a pestered-out feeling. You eat little. You drag along. In the morning you look at your face in the mirror. You feel years older when you see how pale and haggard you are.

It is your blood. It needs red corpuscles. Instead of poking along half sick, why don't you try taking Pepto-Mangan, the blood tonic? It has just the ingredients weak blood needs. With red blood your energy and enthusiasm return. You eat better. You tackle work and achieve.

Pepto-Mangan is widely and heartily endorsed by physicians. It is effective and easy to take. It is sold in both liquid and tablet form. The medicinal properties are identical.

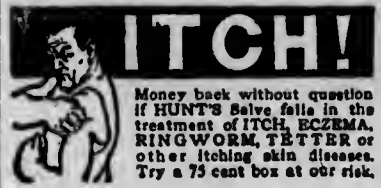

Sold at any drug store. But be sure to get the genuine Pepto-Mangan—"Gude's." Ask for it by the name and be sure the full name, "Gude's Pepto-Mangan," is on the package. — Advertisement.

Frankfort, Ky., Nov. 12. — Attempt of the last General Assembly to reform procedure in juvenile cases by conferring jurisdiction on the Circuit Courts failed and the County Courts retain exclusive jurisdiction. Chief Justice Carroll in the Court of Appeals, today, affirming the Fayette Circuit Court, held the act of 1920 unconstitutional because the title is defective.

FIRST WOMEN'S JURY.

Nicholasville, Ky., Nov. 12.—Twelve Jessamine county women were called into service this afternoon to sit in judgment in a case involving the sanity of a member of their sex. This was the first time a woman's jury has ever tried a case in this state. Indiana Lady Had Something Like Indigestion Until She Took Black-Draught, Then Got All Right.

Seymour, Ind.—"Some time ago I had a sick spell, something like indigestion," writes Mrs. Clara Peacock, of Route 6, this place. The Black-Draught relieved me more than anything that I took, and I got all right. I haven't found anything better than Black-Draught when suffering from trouble caused by constipation. It is easy and sure. Can be taken in small doses or large as the case calls for."
